

ICAN'S NONPROFIT SCHOLARSHIP FOR DEFINING LEADERSHIP PROGRAM

When it comes to community leadership and transformational change, nonprofit organizations serve a unique role. What is it that makes some nonprofits successful and others fail? At the Institute for Career Advancement Needs, Inc. (ICAN), we believe it is inspired, resilient and balanced leaders. As a 501(c)(3), ICAN understands the complexity of running a nonprofit business, and is committed to helping other nonprofit organizations unlock their individual and organizational potential.

In the Spring of 2010, ICAN began offering scholarships to non-profit employees. In support of this commitment, ICAN has a nonprofit scholarship program to make its Defining Leadership Program accessible to nonprofit organizations. This new nonprofit scholarship program invites nonprofit organizations to leverage ICAN's experience in developing leaders to build and sustain strong, healthy organizational cultures and communities. Leaders of nonprofit organizations will connect with talented individuals from both the corporate and nonprofit arena and join a community of over 1,000 Defining Leadership graduates.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE TO APPLY?

Full-time professional Executive Directors or direct reports to Executive Directors managing people and/or projects and programs for nonprofit organizations that:

- Are a registered 501(c)(3)
- Have an outside professional board of directors
- Have been incorporated for at least five years
- Are an organization with 200 employees or less

PROGRAM TUITION: NONPROFIT SCHOLARSHIP

Program tuition is regularly $4,500. With the ICAN nonprofit scholarship, tuition would be

- $2,500 tuition for nonprofit organizations with less than a $2 million budget (Scholarship Value: $2,000)
- $3,500 tuition for nonprofit organizations with more than a $2 million budget (Scholarship Value: $1,000)

HOW TO APPLY?

There are a limited number of seats in the Defining Leadership Program for nonprofit leaders, and ICAN invites you to apply today. Complete the Defining Leadership program application at <http://icanglobal.net/our-programs/defining-leadership/> and fill out the Non-Profit special section within. Notification of program acceptance and further instructions will be sent via e-mail. If you have any questions, please contact Amy McLaughlin, Vice President, Programs & Operations, at 402.392.0726 or amy@icanglobal.net.

ABOUT ICAN

ICAN's range of leader development programs, custom services and events accelerates your potential, expands your network and helps you live your values. With nearly 4,000 program graduates, certified faculty and well-tested program success, you gain privileged insight into leadership best practices. Since 1981, organizations have turned to ICAN for effective and transformative leadership experiences. We engage more than 3,000 event attendees, nearly 100 leader development program graduates and approximately 300 custom program participants annually. ICAN cultivates authentic leaders who build stronger teams, influence cross-functionally, navigate meaningful change and value diversity of thought. Think of us as your credible, trusted and innovative partner for all things leadership.